19. As part of your programme you may study as part of your degree away from Lancaster University at approved exchange partners of the University or one of the University's overseas campuses. You will therefore have to continue to engage with the University in accordance with the University's required processes and procedures whilst you are studying away from the University. You may also have to agree to terms and conditions of the other party which will also be applicable to you whilst you are at that location, for example, the terms and conditions of a visiting student. Further information regarding overseas study placements, including the application process and fees, can be found on the 'Study Abroad' section of the University's Advice, Support and Knowledge \(ASK\) portal.

Right to withdraw

20. You have a 14-day statutory cancellation period during which you can change your mind about accepting an offer to study at the University. 21. If you are a new student and you registered online or remotely, there is a 14-day statutory cancellation period. In the two weeks from the date you register online you can change your mind about coming to study at the University. If you cancel your place within this cancellation period, you (or your sponsor) will receive a refund of any tuition fees paid to the University less any non-refundable deposit you have paid. To cancel your place, you must notify the University in writing.
22. For new students who register in person, there is no statutory cancellation period, although the 14-day 'cooling-off' or cancellation period will still apply to students who register within 14 days of accepting their offer. However, should you change your mind about studying at the University up to and including Friday of week one of the first academic term of the first academic year of your course, you (or your sponsor) will not be charged tuition fees and the University will refund any tuition fees paid less any non-refundable deposit you have paid.

The University has a duty of care to its students, which is enshrined in Health and Safety and Equality legislation. However, universities are not expected to develop or deliver bespoke physical health or mental health treatment services as they are not statutory health bodies and do not have the competence to deal with the most serious cases. Nevertheless, Lancaster University provides a range of mental health and wellbeing support services to its students from a number of different sources. These can be viewed on the 'wellbeing' section of the University's Advice, Support and Knowledge \(ASK\) portal, however, it is important you note that, in the most serious cases, these services will refer students to the statutory health bodies with the competence and expertise to deal with such matters.
